

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Suture anchor and associated method and system. In one embodiment, the suture anchor includes a bone anchoring portion, and a suture securing portion coupled to the bone anchoring portion. The suture securing portion has an eyelet through which a suture is threaded. The eyelet has a surface finish provided by a coating process, such as a titanium nitride or a titanium anodize process that increases the life of the suture.